Lots of Horsepower In These 16 Tractors

Ed Utech has so much new and used farm equipment in the Orange City Implement buildings that about two carloads of new tractors had to be parked along the curb in front of his place. Snow drifts were still in evidence when the tractors were unloaded. More than half of this machinery was already sold at an early date. Now a diminishing number of tractors along the curb show the big demand for machinery this year and show Orange City is becoming more and more the trade center, as well as the government center of the county.
