Miss Virginia Same arrived in Orange City last Thursday from Texas to spend the summer with her sister. Mrs. W. E. Chase. The foundation of A. J. Betten's new residence is nearly completed and the carpenters will commence work on it this week. John Vos and George Van de Steeg are expected home from Iowa City Saturday of this week to spend the summer vacation. Mrs. P. Kooyman and her mother, Mrs. Limburg, went to Ackley last week for a visit with old friends at their former home. Miendert Posthumes and Mrs. Jennie Andringa of Orange City were united in marriage at the home of the latter Monday evening. Miss Belle Geddes was called to her home at Washtah, Iowa, last Thursday by a telegram announcing the dangerous illness of her brother. During her father's absence in north-

C. Hospers sold his land in Douglass county, S. D., last week and didn't seem to feel just right without some Dakota soil recorded in his name so he went out Monday with the intention of buying another piece of land. Referee G. Kiny on Saturday sold the Jansma farm of 120 acres to P. H. De Jong for $11,080, or $95 per acre. There are practically no improvements on the place and a new record is thus placed on the value of Sionx county land, country and its prospects. Fred Jansen was over from Sioux Center Monday and ordered THE HER ALD sent to his home. Fred's father. B. W. Jansen, has long been one of THE HERALD'S readers over there, but Fred set up business for himself in March and wisely concluded that he needed the paper for himself. When Attorney John W. Hospers ceturned last Thursday from his trip up to Day county he brought back with him not only another quarter section of land, or the tille thereto, but a fine assortment of pike and perch caught up there and which he distributed among his friends.

In addition to special exercises by the members of the class, we will have an address by Dr. F. C. Eastman of Cedar Fails. Dr. Eastman is a well known lecturer in Iowa and at present is professor of Latin at the State Normal school. This is a new departure in school work and we believe a good one. We shall have a good, wholesome lecture that will inspire our young people to higher ideals and will no doubt prove interesting to the old er ones. Dr. Eastman lectured in Orange City several years ago. He and Berhends & Van der Meer C. L. Hello, John, painting up a little, L see. How does it go?

O, all right; you see I am using Har rison Bros. Town and Country Paint, and I think it is the best on earth. I ret it at Smidt & Rozeboom's. They are sole agents for this locality, and if I were you I would give it a trial when you paint your house and barn. There is no question that it is the most durable and cheapest paint on the market today.

In this issue of THE HERALD appears the announcement of Mr. N. Van Horasen as a candidate for the office of County Auditor of Sioux county. Mr. Van Horssen is an old settler of Sioux and is widely and favorably known throughout the county. He is a true blue republican, whose political integrity has stood the test in all former campaigns. He will be a strong candidate. The Daily Iowan-University of Iowa City says: "'Johnnie' Vos pitched the Decoration Day game for Iowa University yesterday with a halo of glory around his head. On his pitching he won the game from Minnesota, but the poor coaching of the Hawkeyes in base running and batting lost them the game at the end of ten innings. Vos made the two runs scored by Iowa during the game. Score: Iowa 2, Minnesota 3,"

The county poor farm stewards of this congressional district are in convention at Orange City today. The purpose of the meeting, as we understand it is to compare notes, and talk over the best methods of caring for $1,000.

Audrika, wife of Mr. L. Van Pelt, sr., departed this life on Sunday, June 1, 1902, at 1:15 p. m., at the age of 74 years, after long and continued suffering from rheumatism and other ailments common in advanced age. Deceased was born in Holland in 1828, her maiden name being Andrika Van Iterson; she came to America in 1858, settling in Pella, Iowa. In 1870 with her husband she came to Sioux county, being among the first settlers of the colony. They settled on a farm just west of Orange City, where they resided until ten years ago, when they built a fine residence in town and retired from the farm.

The death of Mrs. Van Peit, although not unexpected, brought deepest sorrow to her family and friends, to whom her noble life had endeared her. She was a Christian lady, a devoted wife and indulgent mother. She leaves her aged husband and eight grown children -all of whom were in attendance at the death bed-to mourn her demise. How sadly the death of this beloved companion falls on the aged husband cannot, in any manner, be fully realized; but when we stop to consider that they have for fifty-four years fought, hand in hand-buffetting the hardships of early days-one can begin to realize the loying fidelity which cemented these faithful hearts, and the depth of sorrow its severing bring.

The funeral sermon was preached yesterday afternoon by Rev. Staplekamp at the First Reformed church. The remains were followed to their final resting place in the Orange City cemetery by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends. THE HER-ALD desires to extend its sympathy to the family in their great bereavement.
